

Major General Spurgeon Neel and the Army Physician Assistant: A Case Study of Policy Change

By Richard Glade Malish

Biblioscholar Dez 2012, 2012. Taschenbuch. Book Condition: Neu. 246x189x2 mm. This item is printed on demand - Print on Demand Neuware - Third Place Winner of the MacArthur Military Leadership Writing Competition for the CGSC Class 2009-02. Policy gives the Army its skeleton. Its components change to adapt to both stress and inactivity. Flimsy policy weakens Army foundation and generates negative consequences that may remain invisible for years. Intelligent and innovative policy strengthens the Army and gives it resilience. Wartime experience is especially important in the process of military policy formation because it presents data specific to the core identity of a military force. As opportunities arise to incorporate wartime lessons into current policy, patterns of the past become relevant. Perhaps the greatest modern medical policy-maker was Major General (MG) Spurgeon Neel. Serving from 1943 to 1977, Neel is best known as the 'Father of DUST OFF' or the 'Father of Aviation Medicine' for his pioneering role in the creation of the doctrine of helicopter medical evacuation. One of Neel's greatest strengths was his power of evidenced-based persuasion. He published more than 33 articles in the fields of flight, operational, and military medicine. He was passionate about his causes to...

DOWNLOAD

READ ONLINE
[5.97 MB]

Reviews

This ebook may be worth a go through, and superior to other. I could comprehend every thing out of this published e pdf. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.

-- Prof. Damien Schuster PhD

This ebook might be worth a read, and superior to other. It is probably the most remarkable book i have got read. Its been designed in an remarkably straightforward way and it is merely soon after i finished reading this publication where really modified me, alter the way i really believe.

-- Alex Zieme DDS