The edition of Bright Feathers is small, (only 200 copies, which becomes large when one has to hand-color all the plates as he can snatch time), and the expense of its publication is just about met by local subscriptions. In the last two numbers of the work I propose to give a duplicate set of impressions from the plates, without color, so that each possessor of a set shall have the figures both colored and uncolored. I have in mind, after this is done, to destroy all the plates. This Will, I think, make the work of some value to bibliophiles and enable me to secure some return for such sets as I may have left. What do you think of such a course ? I judge from the tenor of your publication and the occasional bookish strain of the advertisements, that you are curious for rare works, especially those relating in any way to ornithology. Allow me to say that Part III was very hastily executed; beside an error in the scientific name, several infelicities of expression occur, which would have been corrected had I been at home to attend to it.--Frank R. Rathbun, Auburn, .New York. The above was written in answer to some question put by us about the work Bright Feathers. It states the case so clearly about a work that is too little known, that we have taken the liberty to publish...
